

THE TRUMPET BRAY

NEGASS

The New England Gilbert and Sullivan Society
P.O. Box 367, Arlington, MA 02476-0004

Vol. XXVIII No. 5
March/April 2004

~ I go - it matters not with whom ~

LMLO SORCERER

Sunday, March 21 at 2:00 PM

LAST-MINUTE LIGHT OPERA / ORCHESTRA
SORCERER SUNDAY, MARCH 21 AT 2 PM, Park Avenue Congregational Church, Arlington, MA.
Conductor: David Larrick. There are still a couple of roles open for this gala sing-through with orchestra: Dr.
Daly and the Notary - while We remain willing to step aside for an eager young Aline. Email Program Chair Dave Leigh at preeta3@yahoo.com, or phone him at (781) 894-3009, if you want one of the roles. Here's the cast list, as it stands currently:

Sir Marmaduke Pointdextre: Dave Leigh

Alexis: Lee Patterson

John Wellington Wells: Tony Parkes

Lady Sangazure: Allegra Martin

Aline: Marion Leeds Carroll. (- but We're willing to step aside for a hopeful young soprano)

Mrs. Partlet: Juliet Cunningham

Constance: Rebecca Burstein

Hercules: Carl Weggel

Still open:

Dr. Daly (Vicar of Ploverleigh): Two solos, ensemble numbers, and dialogue. Lyric Baritone or Tenor

Notary: Some ensemble music. Bass

HOW TO GET THERE: The Park Avenue
Congregational Church, 50 Paul Revere Road in Arlington is located at the corner of Park Avenue and Paul Revere Road, on Park Avenue one block south of Massachusetts Avenue in Arlington.

Local route: Drive or take the #77 Arlington Heights bus along Massachusetts Avenue to Park Avenue, at the far west end of town, and then travel one block south. From a distance: Take Route 2 to the Park Avenue-Arlington exit, and drive north along Park Avenue until Massachusetts Avenue is in sight. Free parking is available on both Park Avenue and Paul Revere Road.

RECENT MEETINGS/GATHERINGS

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 1 AT 2:00 PM: CARTOONS AT THE NEWTON FREE LIBRARY. The G&S-related animated cartoons provided by NEGASS's Don Smith were once more an almost-unqualified hit. We hope to see most of these again - but all present agreed that it's time to find a replacement for Gentlemen of Titipu, despite Anna Russell's voice.

NEGASSers who were surprised to find the first cartoon half-over when they arrived at 2:00 learned later of the compromise that Program Chair Dave Leigh was forced to effect as a result of a miscommunication: the library had publicized 1:30, rather than 2, as the program start time.

Later we enjoyed The Great Raffle Game... as Dave tells the story: "We had three prizes: the greeting cards [Tyson Vick's original G&S note cards, mentioned in last month's Bray], a CD of the 60's D'OC MIKADO, and an IDA score [Dave's own piano-vocal edition, no less!]. We put the raffle tickets into one of Allegra [Martin's] great big mittens, and I got children in the audience to reach in and pull out the winning tickets.

The first volunteer, a girl of about thirteen with extremely red hair, reached in and pulled out a ticket, and I read the number aloud. The girl quietly replied, "that's mine." She handed me her stub for verification, and by an amazing coincidence, she had indeed drawn her own number. So the greeting cards were hers.

The second volunteer, a boy of about seven, came up and drew a ticket, and I read the number. The winner was a little old lady about halfway back, who came up to the front and seemed quite happy and a little surprised that she'd won. I verified the number and the CD was hers.

The third volunteer, a boy maybe nine, came up and drew a number, and after a pause, a voice said, "I think that's mine." The owner of the voice turned out to be none other than the boy who had done the second drawing. Thing was, he had no stub — he claimed he'd dropped it in the mitten when he'd come up the first time. It sounded pretty suspicious, but emptying out the mitten and searching for the other half of that particular ticket would have taken much more time than I was comfortable spending on the halftime entertainment, and the audience thought the whole thing was hilarious (someone even started singing "A Nice Dilemma"). In the end, I took the J. W. Wells approach and asked the audience to decide; the general consensus was to let him have the prize. I don't know what use he'd have of a IDA vocal score, but he's got one. And if it helps him become an avid G&S fan, then that's just fine by me.

-- DAVE LEIGH

←→ UPCOMING MEETINGS →←

MAY 16: ELECTIONS/FANTASY MEETING Yes, this was originally going to take place JUNE 6, but the memory of last year's extremely successful Election/Fantasy meeting, which was held in mid-May at the Park Avenue Congregational Church in Arlington, MA, have led the board to switch the date.

ELECTIONS: This year Members-at-Large Linda Silverstein, Janice Dallas and Marion Leeds Carroll are up for re-election. So are our Vice President (Tony Parkes), Secretary (Jennifer Morris - who has already abdicated), and Program Chair (Dave Leigh). If you think you'd like to try - if you'd like to know more about these positions - please check out the contact info on the last page of the Bray, and be in touch!

Note: The three contested M-a-Ls actually hold extra roles, independent of our M-a-L positions: Linda is our

Tentative Meeting Schedule, 2003-2004

May 16	Election/Fantasy meeting
August	Picnic meeting, TBA

NEXT BRAY COPY DEADLINE: April 25, 2004

Next Bray Stuffing: Sunday May 2, 2004 at 3:00 PM. Call Us at (781) 646-9115, or send email to marion@leedscarroll.com, for directions to Our easy-to-get-to Arlington, MA home.

Welcome, Welcome, Welcome We New Member Jay Madeira, of Yarmouth, ME.

Jay states that he's an 82 year old widower and retired. He played cello in a pit orchestra for RUDDIGORE many years ago and always regretted that he never got to see the show. Now he plays the banjo and enjoys attending the shows put on by The G&S Society of Hancock County. He wishes there were more groups performing G&S operettas. Tell Us, Tell Us All About It! Hearty Greeting Offer We! — mlc

Company Promoter, Janice is our Membership Chair, and We are the Bray editor/web-mistress... is anyone eager to take on part or all of any of these roles? We can share!

←→ Needed: A Bray editor's apprentice. (Don't cue the Mickey Mouse cartoon; this is serious, and besides, the music isn't Sullivan...) Yes - after all these years, We are getting serious about taking care of Our health, and about maybe not rejecting everything Our neurologist tells us. (We'll see how long this resolution lasts.) Maybe We can start by discussing - gasp - handing over the Web site [www.negass.org] updates?! The site is really ripe for a redesign - anyone want to discuss that with Us? Or - anyone ready to just hang out with Us as We put together a Bray or two, to see all that goes into the task, to see what parts you'd like to take over and how soon, and what improvements you'd suggest? Let Us know! -- mlc

FANTASIES: Last year we started out with an ad-hoc TRIAL, and went on to have a fabulous time playing around with gender-bending fantasies. What will it be this year? Come join us - throw your own fantasies into the pot, and see what happens!

TORONTO SINGOUT CANCELLED The organizers write: Due to circumstances beyond our control, we will be unable to proceed with the planned Toronto Gilbert and Sullivan Singout. Many thanks to everyone who expressed interest in coming - we're sorry things didn't pan out 'cause we were looking forward to seeing old friends and meeting new ones.

We're hoping that someone will pick up the ball and organize another Singout. They take a lot of work to organize but, in the long run, they're a lot of fun.

And so, from Ori, Len, Elspeth, Bill, and myself, we extend to you our heartfelt thanks for your support and understanding.

-- HERSCHEL ROSEN

A NEGASS SINGOUT??? Shall NEGASS host a Singout? It would be a lot of work. It would take a lot of planning, and a chunk of cash up-front. It's not something that we could throw together in time for the summer of '04 - it's been estimated that if we started now it might be ready in time for the summer of 2006. Do we have people who'd be interested in taking on such a project? Do we have an individual with the strength to coordinate such a group? Let NEGASS know! - mlc

AMERICAN G&S ACTIVITIES SURVEY Hello, I am a researcher in American studies at the University of Nancy in France, where I am currently writing a paper about Gilbert and Sullivan's popularity in the USA. I am trying to gain a better understanding of the role of American Gilbert and Sullivan societies. The survey should take just 5 to 10 minutes to fill out. I would greatly appreciate any information you wish to give me. I would be happy to share my findings with you if you are interested once the paper is published.

-- RACHEL HUTCHINS

Visit <http://www.negass.org/bray/pdf/survey.pdf> or <http://www.negass.org/bray/pdf/survey.doc> to download this survey. The PDF will yield a printable version which you can fill out and mail. The Word document is printable, but it also gives you the option to fill it out on your computer and send it to Rachel as an email attachment. (Sorry - We have not had time to turn this into a Web form, as We'd intended!) We will also bring print-outs of this survey to the next NEGASS meeting.

Address:

Rachel Hutchins
CTU
42-44 avenue de la Libération BP 3397
54015 NANCY Cedex
FRANCE
Rachel.Hutchins@univ-nancy2.fr

D'OYLY CARTE TENOR'S PAGES: Jeff Cresswell (D'Oyly Carte tenor) has a website ... if you care to click on his site you'll find a host of info about the realities of the profession and being in the old company: <http://www.jeffreycresswell.com/> Go to 'D'Oyly Days', follow the pics and you'll find some really interesting stuff.
- DON SMITH

—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—♦♦♦—

REVIEWS

THE (IN)COMPLETE WORKS OF GILBERT & SULLIVAN: New England Light Opera, now in its second season, presented this G&S revue at the Tsai Performance Center of Boston University on February 20 and 21, and at Masconomet Regional School in Topsfield on the 22nd. I had resigned myself to non-attendance, as I was in a competing show that weekend; but to my great delight, the group added a Saturday matinee at the last minute.

The ticket price of $30 originally seemed steep to me for a revue with piano accompaniment, but within the show's first five minutes I firmly repented. This is a thoroughly professional company: in addition to fine singing and acting, the players exhibit the kind of infectious energy that has saved many an amateur show, and that is sadly lacking in too many high-priced productions.

Artistic director Mark Morgan (who served as music director and collaborated with stage director Peter A. Carey on the adaptation) learned much of his G&S from James Stuart at Ohio Light Opera, including a fondness for the lesser-known works of the canon. Morgan and Carey set themselves the challenge of using material from all 14 operas and creating a storyline that would make the show more than simply a concert. I think they and their cast did themselves proud.

The principals included baritone Richard Conrad, who needs no introduction to Boston G&S audiences, and contralto Eugenia Hamilton, who toured with Opera a la Carte and has worked with Donald Adams. Hamilton was in fine voice (her "Silvered Is the Raven Hair" was a highlight), and if the same could not be said for Conrad, at least he can still sell a comic song as well as anyone. There was a nicely contrasted pair of lead sopranos in Sol Kim Bentley, a petite charmer of Asian descent, and Kaja Schuppert, a tall Nordic beauty with an electrifying high E-flat. They were ably partnered, respectively, by local favorite Daniel Kamalic as lyric baritone and by Jason McStoots, the possessor of a creamy tenor voice and an impressive opera and concert resume.

The setting was a Victorian parlor, with a grand piano onstage and a rich Oriental rug underfoot (doubtless provided by Landry & Arcari, who took the program's only color advertisement). Schuppert and McStoots, acting as maid and butler, admitted a gaggle of party guests (the remaining soloists plus a dozen choristers) who each wrote on a slip of paper and dropped it in a hat. For the rest of the show, the guests took turns drawing slips and singing songs, which - wonder of wonders! - turned out to suit their voices perfectly. Scores were passed around as needed; the THESPIS scores (for "Climbing over Rocky Mountain," with the original lyrics) were a great sight gag.

None of the singing or acting seemed rushed, quite a feat when both the songs and the dialogue shifted from one opera to another at a split second's notice. I was so busy playing "name that opera" that I didn't realize until near the end that there was actually a kind of plot: through various impediments, the couples were working their way toward "happily ever after." (So that's why they kept calling each other "Young Soprano," "Lady Mezzo," etc., instead of using the original characters' names.) It was a bit like Anna Russell's "How to Write Your Own G&S," with the genuine article replacing Russell's pastiche.

Apart from a few fluffed lines and a couple of mispronounced words (in "Poor Wandering One," "lowers" ought to rhyme with "ours"), the show went off without a hitch. Mark Morgan served as party host, page turner, and discreet choral conductor, and Karen Gahagan at the piano managed to keep up with the dozens of quick segues (she also got one of the biggest laughs with her only vocal line, "My opinion doesn't matter"). Ilyse Robbins was credited as choreographer; the blocking ranged from graceful to deliberately chaotic but was so seamless that one couldn't tell where Carey's part left off and Robbins's began.

Seeing this show made me glad I'd decided to subscribe to NELO's season, which includes a Jerome Kern night and a new musical by Mark Morgan and Ken Proctor.

Quality obviously matters to these people. The bad news from a G&S viewpoint: Morgan is committed to reviving rarely heard works, and he has strongly implied in the past that G&S is not a priority. The good news: in this show's program he speaks of some G&S operas as being "largely unknown." Does that mean he might produce one? Time alone can tell. He includes YEOMEN in the least-known category, while admitting "some might quibble." Many NEGASSers certainly would; but if NELO were to give us a professional-quality YEOMEN (or IDA, with Ms. Schuppert in the title role), I wouldn't complain.

-- TONY PARKES

MIKADO IN FRANCE: Two seasons on from PIRATES in German in Vienna, I have just had the good fortune to see a rare professional production of MIKADO in French, at the Opera-Theatre of Metz, in north-eastern France. This was a production of the opera company of the city of Tours, that has played successfully in a few other French provincial cities since its premiere in 1992.

Thanks to the excellent programme notes, I learned that French and German MIKADOs had had some success early in the 20th century, but there had been little follow-up, other than a radio version in Paris in the 1960s. The artistic director of the Metz opera is the renowned British tenor Laurence Dale, who no doubt influenced the decision to put on the show there. The French translation was credited to Tony Mayer, with help on the lyrics from Annick Minck and the Tours opera head Michel Jarry.

As with the German PIRATES, some parts of the show remained in English, partly because of a perceived difficulty in making an adequate translation and partly to give some British flavor to the goings-on.

Overall, this was an excellent production, bursting with energy, but to my taste losing out occasionally when it became a little too Gallic. The costumes showed great imagination, as did the set to some extent (given that this was a touring production), and the singing and acting was of a good level, give or take the few specific points below. I'm not too sure how much the show actually appealed to the mainly elderly Metz audience; at the end, the cast milked the applause through various encores and other business, but the most enthusiastic response seemed to come from some of the very few youngsters present. On the Saturday night, the theater was about two-thirds full, with the side aisles and top balcony only very sparsely filled.

And now for some corroborative detail, to give artistic verisimilitude to an otherwise bald and unconvincing narrative...

Costumes/make-up: the idea of Japan-ness was mainly conveyed by painting large red circles on both cheeks of all the cast, and also on the trousers of the chorus men - no other eastern-effect make-up, though the girls did have identical black wigs which made them rather anonymous. For the opening chorus, the Britishness was cleverly conveyed by the men all coming on sporting mini-bowlers, plus eye-catching green briefcases from which they extracted their fans, and - a nice touch - thin walking-sticks (rather than normal city-attire umbrellas) which they deftly used as oars to accompany the naval verses of "Wand'ring Minstrel". However (not having taken any notes), I seem to recall finding many of the principals' costumes rather off-putting, principally Ko-Ko's - of which more below. Looking back, I think the overall effect was somewhat reminiscent of a circus, with hints of Charlie Chaplin, but I'm not sure I thought that at the time.

Set/props: between Nanki-Poo's entrance on a penny-farthing and Katisha's on a Boadicean chariot, the palm for inventiveness went to Pooh-Bah's arrival in a gigantic tea-pot that had perhaps strayed from a forthcoming SORCERER production. The 3 maids' arrival inside large eggs was perhaps a trick too far, as they had some difficulty in extracting themselves. For the Mikado's entry, the back of the set opened up for the first time to reveal him atop an impressive Aztec-style pyramid, which was later adapted for staging a few other tricks in the rest of Act Two.

My main reservation about the show concerned the character of Ko-Ko, played as a rather effeminate member of a Viking motorcycle gang, if that sounds possible. As the actor concerned (Jacques Duparc) was also the stage director, I think he should have a quiet word with himself. Maybe this brought the role - and thus the production - more into line with current French operetta staging, and thus more to the presumed taste of the audience. At any rate, when he finally removed his headgear to serenade Katisha, I for one breathed a sigh of relief, even if his blonde crew-cut rather clashed with the Japanese (OK, Aztec) setting. But our Jacques did give a spirited rendition of his role, for all that.

Of the others, I appreciated the performances of Katisha and Nanki-Poo, but found the other leading men perhaps a little too hammy - but then, French humour, like Katisha herself, is something of an acquired taste.

As noted above, about a quarter of the production was in English, mostly in various songs. For example, the opening and closing verses of "Wand'ring minstrel" were in French, but the middle part was all in English. Pooh-Bah's song "Young man, despair" was sung by him in French, but his colleagues' interjections were not! Several other songs were entirely in English, though surprisingly the "Big Black Block" song was all in French. (A thought - given that most Offenbach operettas are presented to Anglophones entirely in English, it must be some kind of tribute to Gilbert's lyrics that they are preserved even in these conditions.) A very competent sur-titles service ensured that the audience was able to follow all the language switches.

A word on the theater itself - as in many French provincial cities, the Metz municipal theater ("the oldest active theater in France") puts on a mixed bag of plays, operas and operettas through the nine-month season, giving about three performances of each show, playing every other weekend. The theater has the advantage of a mid-town setting in a spacious riverside site, gazing up at the vast bulk of one of France's most impressive medieval cathedrals.

And lastly a few words on the programme. I recall from my days in the States that these were included in the ticket cost - is this still so? [in Our experience, yes - mlc] - but in Europe they come at a price, generally an inflated one. The Metz programme cost 5 Euros (say $ 6.40), quite reasonable by current standards, and was excellent value for money. It included, inter alia, quite a long plot description of every G&S work, picking out the more interesting musical items in each, except for PATIENCE, of which I was delighted to see that editor Robert Pourvoyeur stated that "connoisseurs consider this the best of the series, and it is impossible to pick out anything other than the entire work" - my own thoughts entirely!

-- DAVID STIEBER

FOREIGN-LANGUAGE G&S CDS - now, why didn't We think to ask David Stieber? - Alan Combs, the conductor of the Andover Choral Society and voice teacher at the Phillips Andover Academy, is looking for sources of CD's and other recordings of G&S productions sung in German, Swedish, and other foreign languages. Don Smith replies: The only ones which I know are (or have been) commercially available are MIKADO in Spanish and Catalan; and MIKADO, PIRATES and PINAFORE in Yiddish; and PIRATES in Esperanto. Other items are strictly bootleg. Dave Leigh points out that the Esperanto PIRATES is out of print, and Carl Weggel adds that a Google search yields a review of Die Piraten written by Marc Shepherd and none other than Don Smith!

MORE REVIEWS?! Where are the reviews We've been promised for the Sudbury Savoyards' PIRATES (starring NEGASS VP Tony Parkes as the Major General) - or the Carl Rosa MIKADO...? We hope to be able to print them next month!

Did anyone catch the world premier of A Perfect Plan, composed by Seymour Barab, based on Gilbert's play Tom Cobb? According to the NY G&S Society's newsletter, The Palace Peeper, it was performed at Symphony Space (Broadway at 95th street) in NYC on February 26-27. We'd love a review!

Did anyone catch Valley Light Opera's concert version of The Rose of Persia on Feb 28? How did it go? Has anyone seen the updated G&S Archives web site at <http://diamond.boisestate.edu/gas/> - what do you think? Tell Us, Tell Us All About it! - mlc

&&& REVIEWS SOUGHT: BROUDE BROTHERS CRITICAL EDITION PINAFORE. Elma Sanders of the Editorial Department of Broude Brothers writes: Broude Brothers has published a critical edition of H.M.S. Pinafore edited by Percy M. Young. We would like to send a copy to the New England Gilbert and Sullivan Society for review. [How lovely! We have already received one offer - but if anyone else would like to get in line to review this important work for the Bray, please let Us know and We'll pass the copy on to you! -mlc]

Ezra and Randi Kestin Peisach backstage at Sudbury's PIRATES - photo by Janice Dallas

SUDBURY SAVOYARDS NEWS On February 28th, the Sudbury Savoyards held their Annual Meeting at Hawes Hall in the Sudbury [MA] United Methodist Church. Elections were held to fill four vacant positions on their Board of Trustees. Elected were Dennis O'Brien, Patrick Kinney, and incumbents Tom Powers and Paula Moravek. They join Donna Roessler, Ed Fell, and Laurel Martin.

Chosen for Sudbury's second annual "Yeomen of Regard" honors were Nancy and the late Bill Burdine, and David Larrick. They join David's former wife, the late Sally Osborn, Betty Farmer, the late Priscilla Davis, Will Ford, and Lawrence Haworth, who were the first group of Very Important People in Sudbury's past selected.

-- JANICE DALLAS

SLOC NEWS New Board elected at SLOC's Annual Meeting: Ron & I, being loyal "Ancestors" of the Savoyard Light Opera Company, attended their Annual Meeting on Feb. 8, 2004, in Carlisle [MA]. The major event of the meeting was the election of new Board members. Patti Lopoulos, Bob Russell, Brian Harris, and returning member Susan Schmidt, were elected to join present members, Rollin Jeglum, Tedford Armstead, and Craig Howard.

There was a discussion of this past Fall's show, IOLANTHE. Everything went well and they made a profit. The Co-producer idea worked out so well that they will continue having them for the next show, The Secret Garden, coming next November.

-- JANICE DALLAS

COSTUMES and other theatrical supplies provided by The Performing Arts Supply Co. are used by the G&S Society of Houston, TX and other G&S groups - and, based on the brochure they've sent Us, they are very effective. Visit <http://www.performingartssupply.com/> to see more.

CALENDAR

February 29, 2004: Frederic is 37 birthdays, or 148 years, old
February 29, 2004: MITG&SP is 4 birthdays, or 16 years, old

☞ Carl Rosa Opera has announced two tours to the United States this year: MIKADO, Feb - March 04, repeated in rep with PINAFORE, Sept - Nov 04. However, their only stop in the Northeastern US will be MIKADO at the Merrill Auditorium in Portland, Maine on Thursday, March 4 at 7:30 pm. Other stops will be in New Jersey, upstate New York, Ontario, western Pennsylvania, Michigan and northern Ohio. For more info visit their web site: www.carlosaopera.co.uk/

March 7, 1896, The Grand Duke opens
 March 14, 1885, The Mikado opens
 March 25, 1875, Trial by Jury opens

☞☞ New Hampshire Gilbert & Sullivan Society will perform RUDDIGORE March 12-28, 2004. For more info, phone 603-679-2781, e-mail nhgandsociety@leddycenter.org or visit their new website at <http://leddycenter.org/nhgandsociety>

☞☞ The Gilbert & Sullivan Society of New York plans meetings this year on March 15, April 17, May 14, and June 19 at CAMI Hall, 165 W. 57 St., NY. Doors open at 7:30; the meeting starts at 7:45, and the Inner Brotherhood go out for coffee afterwards. Visit <http://g-and-s.org/> for more details.

☞☞ Simsbury Light Opera of Simsbury, CT will produce PINAFORE on March 20, 21, 27, 28, Apr 3. Cast includes Thom Griffin Sir Joseph and Linda Nadeau as Buttercup. For more details, see the company web site at www.SLOCO.org, or phone (860) 653-7558.

April 3, 1880, The Pirates of Penzance opens in London

The MIT G&S Players' spring production is THESPIS, directed by David Jedlinsky and Todd Neal (who also created the orchestration for this new setting), and produced by Ruth Jedlinsky and Garry Zacheiss. The show is cast, rehearsals and even set-building are in progress, and performances are set for the weekends of April 9 and 16. The MITG&SP web site tells Us: "This version of THESPIS will consist of two existing Sullivan tunes, "Climbing Over Rocky Mountain" and "Little Maid of Arcadée." All other music has been specially composed for this show by Colin Johnson, and the MIT G&S Players are pleased to be presenting the world premiere of this new work." For more info, contact the group via savoyards-request@mit.edu or (617) 253-0190, or visit <http://web.mit.edu/gsp/www/>.

☞☞ Harvard-Radcliffe G&S's spring production is IOLANTHE. Directors: Hector Garza and Matthew Corriel. Dates: April 8-10 at 8 pm; April 10 matinee at 2 pm, April 15-17 at 8 pm; April 17 matinee at 2 pm.

Opening performance is, as usual, Black Tie. There will be no performance on Sunday, April 11

(Easter). As a result, the last evening will be normal, NOT the usual Hack Night.

Tickets go on sale March 18th, via the Harvard Box Office at (617) 496-2222. Visit <http://hcs.harvard.edu/~hrfsp/tix.html> for more info.

☞☞ The University of Michigan G&S Society (UMGASS) will perform IDA April 8-11. Note: They'll be using NEGASS Program Chair Dave Leigh's new edition of the piano/vocal score for rehearsals - glory, glory anyway! Call 734-764-2538 or visit <http://www.umgass.org> for more info.

☞☞ The Yale G&S Society plans PIRATES in late April. Visit <http://www.yale.edu/gs/> for more info.

☞☞ Longwood Opera will be holding auditions for Boston based singers only on April 24th and 25th, 1pm - 5pm for their 2004 season. The ever-popular Gilbert and Sullivan Night will take place this year on July 27 - and anyone accepted for the Longwood roster is welcome to take part in that or any other summer concert. For more info call 781-455-0960, or visit <http://home.earthlink.net/~brumit/index.html>

☞☞ THEATER FOR A NEW AUDIENCE plans Gilbert's Engaged at the Lucille Lortel Theater on Christopher Street in NYC April 20-May 16 - call (212) 229-2819 ext 0 or visit www.tfana.org for more info.

April 23, 1881, Patience opens
 May 13, 1842, Arthur Sullivan is born
 May 25, 1878, H.M.S. Pinafore opens
 May 27, 1883, Sullivan is knighted
 May 29, 1911, W.S. Gilbert dies
 June 30, 1907, Gilbert is knighted

☞☞ Glimmerglass Opera of Cooperstown, NY presents PATIENCE, in repertory with other works, between July 2 and August 24, 2002. Visit <http://www.glimmerglass.org/> or phone (607) 547-2255 for more info

☞☞ Ohio Light Opera opens MIKADO in June and PATIENCE in July. We know it's not, but mavens might like to check out DeKoven's Robin Hood (the first major American operetta), opening in late June. These are all in repertoire with non-G&S operettas - quite a busy season! Visit <http://www.wooster.edu/ohiolightopera/> for more info.

